I specialize in web and app development, with hands-on experience in tools and technologies like ASP.NET, Flutter, and Firebase integration. My projects include:

A Library Management System, designed with ASP.NET and Firebase, enabling admins to manage books efficiently.

A Library App built with Flutter, allowing users to track borrowed and reserved books in real time.

I am also adept at solving real-world IT challenges, such as integrating Firebase into web dashboards and addressing data management issues. My commitment to excellence is further demonstrated by my small business, DigitalDen Inc., where I assist clients with laptop repairs, installations, and software troubleshooting.

I am passionate about leveraging technology to improve user experiences, and I actively explore emerging fields like UX/UI design, mobile app development, and database optimization.

With strong problem-solving abilities and a collaborative mindset, I am eager to contribute to dynamic teams and tackle complex projects in the tech industry. Let's connect and explore opportunities to innovate together!
